Media Release

Bluestar Global Logistics (BGL) is excited to announce the addition of Mos Kassaby as its chairman and Strategic investor. Mos has had a long and rich history in the Australian transport sector, his vision and comprehensive understanding of the industry is second to none. BGL are also further reinforcing their executive team with some key additional appointments in both the back office and customer facing departments.

This is an exciting development for a number of reasons:

- BGL are retaining proven contemporary talent and leadership whilst bringing on board more capability and resource to accelerate growth and continuous improvements in customer service, technology and efficiency
- This development allows BGL to move to a new commercial structure which allows for a single touchpoint, regardless of the service offering (3PL, import/export, or transport) to the customer – 1 platform, 1 contact, 1 invoice, more service offerings

CEO (Muzi Eideh) and COO (Michael Panagiotou) will continue to remain in their current capacity for the foreseeable future to support the continued growth and future development of BGL.

"The last 35 years have been an incredible journey for the Bluestar Group, full of ups and downs. But none of this would be possible without our amazing team, partners and customers. We couldn't have done it without you. We started way back in 1987 and have grown into a Global service provider. I want to assure you that our current service offerings will remain and that we are not going anywhere. Mos has long admired Bluestar Global Logistics's uniqueness and desire to craft value-add, customer-focused solutions while also building a great team and culture" said CEO Muzi Eideh.

Mos Kassaby added "Going forward, I want to assure our customers, people and other stakeholders that Bluestar Global Logistics will still be the same company that you have grown to love. Our mission remains unchanged. We will simply have more resources to continue building products that our customers will enjoy. I'm excited to share more about what we'll be working on together in the coming months. The possibilities are not only exciting but very attractive and we are only just getting started. Stay tuned!"
